Frank Salzgeber, Head of Technology Transfer Programme at European Space Agency:

“New quality weather information is becoming more and more important nowadays as we see by requests from all over the world and different customer groups. We are extremely proud of having incubated award-winning WxFUSION in one of our ESA Business Incubation Centers (ESA BIC Oberpfaffenhofen), a shooting star amongst our innovative startups materializing on satellite earth observation and other data for new applications in terrestrial markets.”
